

A guided MTB tour on Mount Subasio

A captivating 3- or 4-day tour in close contact with nature

Code tour: C011UMB

This MTB tour will be perfect for those who want to live a unique experience discovering a mountain where nature and spirituality are closely connected.

The Mount Subasio, the sacred mountain between Assisi and Spello where St. Francis and his first followers retired for long periods of meditation and contemplation. However, there is not only a deep spirituality of sacred places: in this tour, luxuriant nature will be the protagonist. You cycle surrounded by a well-preserved nature of the Regional Park that bears the same name as the mountain. You will ride with the bike guide in the shade of the woods, between meadows and olive groves, on dirt roads and even on exciting trails. You will discover uncontaminated places, medieval villages immersed in a wonderful landscape with views that will range over the entire Umbrian Valley, from Perugia to Spoleto. The itineraries start from the fascinating Spello, which preserves important Roman testimonies such as the Porta Venere and the Porta Consolare. Another highlight is the small but pretty walled-in village of Collepino that rises on the southern slopes of the mountain. However, Spello is not the only pearl of this trip. During the tour, there will be the opportunity to visit Assisi, a pilgrimage city rich in historical and artistic treasures of inestimable value. Its imposing appearance, with its magnificent fortress, towers and medieval buildings, will already manifest itself from afar. Assisi, closely linked to the Saints Francis and Clare, has alleys and enchanting streets. If you arrive early you can visit it on the day of your arrival or during the afternoons after the bike rides. A must to see is the Basilica of Saint Francis, the Basilica of Saint Clare, the museums including the Roman Forum under the main square, Piazza del Comune, the Temple of Minerva and the fortress 'La Rocca'.

The bike rides have two levels of difficulty. A more easy one, both in ascent & descent as in technical difficulty. The more demanding version has more up and downhill cycling and includes passages on mountain trails.

You will cycle for half a day so there will remain the time to visit the cities of Spello and Assisi but also surrounding places, like the wine-town of Montefalco, the capital town of Perugia.

Level 3:

Moderate - difficult level. For those who love technically simple hilly and mountain routes such as dirt roads or mule tracks without too much technical difficulties and on not excessively bumpy terrain. Good physical condition and good training are required in addition to the ability to ride the bike on unpaved surfaces. This tour is not suitable for those under 18 years old. There are quite demanding elevations (800-900 m).

Average daily distance: 25 Km

Total: 50 km / 31 mi

Total ascent/descent: + 1.670m - 1.670m

Level 4:

Difficult-strenuous level. For those who love more challenging routes on hilly and mountain terrain. In addition to the passage on dirt roads and mule tracks there will be sections of the route on trails. Good athletic preparation and a good ability to ride the bike on even bumpy surfaces with sloping sections and on single tracks are required. This trip is not suitable for those under 18 years old. There will be significant daily elevations (1100-1250 m.).

Average daily distances: about 28 Km / 17,5 mi

Total: about 56 km / 34,8 mi

Total ascent/descent: +2.390m -2.390m
